Preparations Rushed For Defense Of Stalingrad By People Of City

MOSCOW, Aug. 25.—Face to face with the most serious moment in Russia's military history since Adolf Hitler sent his Nazi hordes crashing across the Soviet borders in June 1941, the southern Red armies today prepared for a fight to the death before Stalingrad, industrial metropolis on the Volga.

Large groups of Nazi parachutists, sometimes as many as 100 at a time, were dropped from 12 to 18 miles behind Soviet lines on the Don and deep in the Caucasus, the Communist party newspaper Pravda admitted.

German Legions Cross Don

German legions, preceded by tank herds and protected by an umbrella of fighting planes, poured across the elbow of the Don southwest of Kletskaya. But the southern fang of the Nazi pincers was stopped in its drive up the Rostov-Stalingrad railway, northeast of Kotelnikovo.

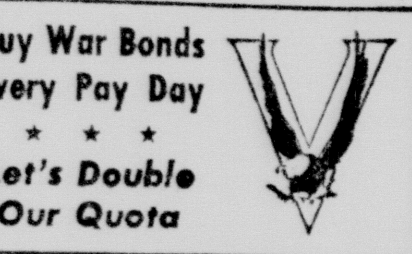

Meanwhile the people of Stalingrad, the "City of Steel," prepared to defend the city named after their leader with every means at their command.

Buildings were hurriedly fortified, barricades sprang up like magic in the streets and tank traps were erected at all approaches to the city, sixth largest in the Soviet Union.

Local residents are in for a black-out tonight—but it won't be artificial. Scientists at the Buhl planetarium at Pittsburgh reported that a total eclipse of the moon will be visible in this area tonight at 11 (Continued On Page Two)

British Fliers Smash At Nazi War Industry

U. S. BOMBERS IN RAID ON FRANCE

Nazi-Held Shipyards Are Bombed By American Fliers In Daylight

By JOHN E. LEE
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

LONDON, Aug. 25.—A strong force of British bombers, defying bad weather conditions, smashed at the heart of German war industry again last night in one of the heaviest assaults in weeks, the air ministry announced today.

The Royal Air Force assault, centered on the upper Rhineland, particularly against Frankfurt and Wiesbaden, followed a strong daylight assault by United States Flying Fortresses against the Nazi-held Le Trait shipyards in occupied France.

Sixteen bombers were reported missing, indicating an attack force of more than 300 planes.

First Wiesbaden Attack
It was the first attack during the war on Wiesbaden, one of the most beautiful of Germany's Rhineland resorts and a particular favorite of the former Kaiser.

Aircraft of the fighter command simultaneously attacked railway objectives in the low countries and destroyed a number of railroad engines.

An air alert was sounded in Lyon, France, at 1 a. m. and anti-aircraft batteries went into action when planes, reported by the Vichy radio to be American Flying Fortresses, flew over the city. Vichy said the planes remained in the vicinity of Lyon for 30 minutes, flying at 30,000 feet. The report was not substantiated by any reliable source and a spokesman for the United (Continued On Page Two)

Churchill Returns From Conferences Along War Fronts

By LEO V. DOLAN
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

LONDON, Aug. 25.—Prime Minister Winston Churchill set about immediately today upon his return from history-making conferences in Moscow to confide the broad details and results of his journey to members of the British war cabinet and chiefs of staff.

While the majority of Londoners seem to expect that the prime minister will address parliament in a one-day special secret session informed circles believe it more likely that Churchill will wait until parliament reassembles for regular sittings, at which time he would give a limited statement on his talks with Soviet Premier Josef Stalin.

May Broadcast Address

There is a possibility he may broadcast an address to the nation but first he must tidy his desk to clear it of accumulated work and study reports of all developments since he left for the middle east and Moscow. The mystery of the prime minister's whereabouts since conclusion of his Moscow talks Aug. 16 was cleared up when it was learned that Churchill made a return visit to Egypt.

Defense Commission To Have First Session Since Brazil Entered War

CLOSE COOPERATION IS SEEN IN WAR

Highest Ranking Officials Of Two Nations To Attend Defense Session

By ARTHUR F. HERMANN
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, Aug. 25.—Foreshadowing closest cooperation in prosecuting the war against the Axis, the newly-created joint Brazil-United States defense commission holds its first meeting in Washington today.

Following closely on Brazil's war declaration against Germany and Italy, the meeting will be attended by highest ranking diplomatic, military and naval officials of the two western hemisphere nations.

General George C. Marshall, United States Army Chief of Staff, is scheduled to attend the meetings and will broadcast to Brazil and other Latin American nations.

Meanwhile, American diplomats in Washington viewed Brazil's entry into the war as a long step forward in creating an anti-Axis belt across South America which will have the effect of shutting off Germany's communications with her Western hemisphere agents.

See Beneficial Results

One immediate and gratifying result of Brazil's declaration of war, according to diplomatic circles, is the expected end of the use of Buenos Aires, capital of Argentina, as an "underground" mail box for German and Italian communications.

STRONG JAP FORCE ATTEMPTS TO OUST AMERICAN FORCES

Greatest Sea-Air Battle In Solomon Island Area Is Reported Under Way—Six Jap Warships and Aircraft Carriers Hit—Battle Is Continuing.

BULLETIN
(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, AUG. 25.—U. S. Naval fleet units, carrier-based aircraft and army bombers today are engaged in what appeared to be the largest sea battle of the Pacific conflict in the Solomons area, and a communique stated that at least six enemy warships including two carriers have been damaged.

The communique, issued by the Navy, stated that a strong Japanese striking force is attempting to oust U. S. forces from the Solomon Islands that were captured early this month and stated significantly that "a large scale battle" is in progress and "the action continues."

Indicating the ferocity of the raging battle, the Navy reported that at least 21 Jap planes were shot down during one phase of the attack.

While the communique did not state when the Japanese attack began, it was made clear that the sea and air battle has been raging for several days and the scope of the conflict indicated it may prove the decisive battle of the war in that Pacific area.

The communique said that U. S. army Flying Fortress bombers and carrier-based naval aircraft are in action and that two enemy carriers have been hit several times.

In addition to the carriers, the navy announcement said that several enemy cruisers, a battleship and an enemy transport also have been damaged by American planes.

The communique intimated that U. S. forces have been anticipating this Nipponese counter-attack and apparently were well prepared to repel the assault.

"This counter-attack has developed and is now being met," the communique asserted.

Jap Carrier Hit

"Army bombers attacked a large Japanese carrier and reported four hits," the communique continued. "U. S. carrier aircraft attacked and severely damaged the smaller Japanese carrier Ryuzo. Several enemy cruisers and a battleship also have been hit by our carrier planes."

As part of the Japanese counter-offensive, the navy said that, on the afternoon of Aug. 23, the Nipponese launched a strong air attack on Guadalcanal island but that the force was intercepted by our fighters and at least 21 enemy aircraft were shot down.

The navy stated that American losses in this action were minor, but made no mention of possible damage to U. S. warships.

Indicating the scope of the battle, the navy added that, on the night of Aug. 23-24, enemy destroyers shelled U. S. marine shore positions on Guadalcanal island but no mention was made of any damage.

Four Jap Planes Are Brought Down

Allied Squad Attacks Jap Planes Over New Guinea

(International News Service)
GEN. DOUGLAS MACARTHUR'S HEADQUARTERS IN AUSTRALIA, Aug. 25.—Four Japanese Zero fighter planes were shot down and several others damaged when Allied interceptor units attacked a squadron of 13 enemy craft over Eastern New Guinea, Gen. Douglas MacArthur announced today.

Only one United Nations plane was damaged and it returned safely to its base.

An Allied reconnaissance unit operating over Rabaul, New Britain Island, attacked two other Jap Zeros, setting fire to one and probably destroying it.

The communique for the first time in several days mentioned ground fighting in New Guinea between Allied forces and Japanese units which penetrated inland from the northeast coast of Papua.

Allied forward elements in the vicinity of Kokoda, 60 miles north-east of Port Moresby, dispersed an enemy patrol, the communique said.

Argentina Takes Stand With Brazil

Brazil Pushes War Program

Fifteen Axis Ships Are Seized—Bank Deposits Of Axis Also Taken

FIFTH COLUMN SUSPECTS HELD

By VICTOR HAWKINS
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)
RIO DE JANEIRO, Aug. 25.—Argentina today stood beside her sister republic Brazil in her war against the Axis powers, joining Chile, Uruguay and Peru in granting "non-belligerent" status to Brazil in its declaration of war against Germany and Italy.

Brazil mobilized its armed forces along its far-flung coastline and the government announced confiscation of Axis assets in retaliation for sinkings of Brazilian vessels by Axis submarines.

Seize Axis Ships
Fifteen Axis ships, totalling 110,000 tons, and bank deposits of 700,000 contos were seized by government orders. Additional confiscation orders of enemy property will follow, it was stated officially.

As the nation geared for war with the Axis powers, the campaign against enemy raiders was reported to have netted three more submarines in the south Atlantic. Uruguayan bomber squadrons were credited with dealing with the Axis U-boats.

Previous reports had accounted for two or three Axis submarines which have raided Brazilian shipping in the past ten days.

Round-Up Suspects
While Brazilian reservists rushed into service to strengthen their armed forces police continued their round-up of suspected Axis fifth columnists. Scores of suspects were arrested.

Police vigilance was especially strict in the northern states where the bulge of Brazil is closest to Vichy-controlled Dakar on the west coast of Africa.

Several more secret radio sending stations were discovered and demolished.

As neighboring nations rallied to the side of Brazil reports were current that a new conference of American foreign ministers would be called to organize continental solidarity against the aggressor nations.

Chile and Argentina, the only nations which have not yet broken off diplomatic relations with the Axis powers, formally acted to give Brazil non-belligerent recognition which will permit Brazil to use their ports without threat of internment.

Dispatches from Buenos Aires said the government had sent notes to President Getulio Vargas and Foreign Minister Oswaldo Aranha pledging full adherence to the Rio de Janeiro pact.

Association said it understood that Churchill had made a comprehensive tour of the middle east after leaving Moscow. He spent some days in Cairo, the press association said, and discussed the whole situation, particularly changes in commands and called at British headquarters in Persia.

Foremost among matters awaiting the prime minister's attention is known to be the daring commando raid on Dieppe last week. This feat is known to have thrilled him and he is most anxious to get a first-hand account from Lord Louis Mountbatten, chief of combined operations.

Dramatic Return
The dramatic suddenness of the premier's return by air yesterday and the fact that imaginations took free rein concerning where he had been since he left Moscow added noticeable to the feeling of exhilaration manifest in London since the allied Dieppe assault.

It was learned that news stories concerning Churchill's second visit to Egypt were brought to England aboard the premier's plane and now are in London for censoring prior to release. In contrast to Churchill's outward journey to Moscow not one leak occurred concerning the homeward trip.

Both the public and press appear to feel that Britain is on the eve of big decisions and editorially there is unanimous agreement that opportunity will not knock much longer.

The Yorkshire Post, owned by the family of Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden, commented on the press comment when it said:

"We stand ready under his (Churchill's) leadership to go forward into the next phase. . . It will be a hard and bitter phase. . . But we are ready."

Churchill arrived back in England with his official party at an undisclosed airport at 8:40 last night and returned to 10 Downing street by train.

His journey of many thousands of miles included visits to Cairo, Egypt, the El Alamein battlefield, in Egypt as well as Moscow, but the whereabouts of the prime minister since his departure from the Soviet capital was not announced.

The movement of railroad traffic will not be affected.

Eight other western Pennsylvania counties in addition to Lawrence, will have the drill.

Air raid wardens, fire-watchers, auxiliary police and other OGD groups will immediately become active upon the sounding of the alarm.

In connection with the coming air drill, Chief of Police Willis G. McMullen today publicly advised all auxiliary police to be courteous but firm.

"A good officer is one who is courteous, enforces law, however, common sense should be employed. The auxiliary police bureau is not a Gestapo organization. Let nothing of the latter semblance creep in," he advised.

of literally hundreds of German and Italian nationals fleeing southward from Brazil in order to escape internment for the duration of the war.

Two of Brazil's closest sister nations in South America, Chile and Uruguay, are expected to swing even farther into the Anti-Axis bloc of nations as a result of Brazil's courageous stand in resisting German attacks on her shipping.

At a meeting of the inter-American defense board yesterday, Gen. Arturo Mujica, Chilean representative, forcefully enunciated his country's opposition to German submarine activities along the Atlantic coast of South America, declaring, "Chile cannot remain silent nor can she remain indifferent in such acts."

The meeting heard representatives of other Latin American republics pledge again their solidarity against Axis penetration of South America.

CITY GARBAGE COLLECTION IS NOT RESUMED

for a raise on the basis that the fire and police departments had been refused a raise because the city has no available funds for an increase at this time. And it would be discriminatory to give one body a raise and not other city departments.

Davies said the city had not changed its stand.

The men did not take out the trucks and resume garbage collection today.

Davies returned to the city building, informed colleagues of the situation and announced that if the bill is drafted today a special meeting of council will be called, the measure adopted and advertisements placed for bids for private collection.

The corn and canning season is here and the council indicated that it will do everything in its power to get garbage moving, as soon as possible.

The garbage men are paid 60 and 65 cents an hour and worked regularly, it was stated. The helpers on a truck get 60 cents an hour and the drivers receive 65 cents an hour.

Garbage Workers Statement
At a meeting of the garbage workers this morning they issued a statement as follows:

"In regards to the garbage of New Castle, we the garbage men would like very much for the people to know a few facts.

"In the first place, there are 18 men who have been working from 19 to 25 years. These men have given the best years of their lives in the service of the city. They are forced to collect the garbage under all conditions of weather when other employees of the city are not forced to be subjected to all such conditions.

"It is a well known fact that they do not collect any sick benefits and are expected to work every day. If a man takes a day off on account of sickness he is subjected to a suspension of anywhere from a week to 10 days.

"During the years of the depression these men took a cut in wages and now due to the high cost of living they realize it is necessary to have an increase in wages. The public and also the city executives know the raise is very much necessary.

"We feel that we are only asking for what is justly due us."

"We also had a raise of five cents on the hour with a promise of another five cents at the first of the year which we have never received.

"We hope the public does not think we are unfair in the action we have taken and hope they will give this matter their kind attention."

The foregoing statement was agreed to by the striking garbage employees today. It was delivered for publication by Roy Hambrick for the strikers.

Report Helsinki Attacked
Another report by the Vichy radio said that 20 Soviet planes had attacked Helsinki, capital of Finland. It was asserted that the attack was the longest made this year by Russian craft but that the bomb-dropped outside the city. A strong anti-aircraft barrage was said to have been sent up in Helsinki.

British as well as American air observers declared themselves thoroughly pleased with the performance of United States Flying Fortress planes in attacks against occupied France.

After a study of the five daylight raids carried out by the high four-motored bombers within a week these observers lauded the Fortresses not only for their precision bombing from extremely high altitudes but also for their recurrent concentrations that they carry sufficient fire-power to beat off enemy fighter craft.

Planes To Have Big Effect
These observers are convinced by the latest achievements of the American planes that when the floodtide of deliveries of Fortresses is reached it will have an important effect on ending the war.

The British bombs which struck at Frankfurt and Wiesbaden apparently got away on an early start since just before dusk last night numerous bombers were heard winging their way across the south coast of England toward the occupied continent.

Frankfurt, situated on the main river, is one of the leading commercial centers in southwest Germany. The city produces many materials vital to Hitler's war machine, including plane parts and explosives. Wiesbaden is an equally important cog in Germany's war set-up.

The Berlin radio said several places in western Germany in the vicinity of the important Rhine and main rivers had been attacked.

Both high explosives and incendiaries were showered down upon the objectives by the R. A. F.

Five U. S. Daylight Raids
The foray by the British into the Reich proper followed the fifth heavy daylight assault by United States Flying Fortress bombers against Nazi-held military objectives in occupied France.

Twelve of the huge American craft smashed at the U-boats base of Le Trait on the Seine River, inland from Le Havre and about midway to Rouen, objective of the first Flying Fortress assault.

Accompanied by a fighter escort, the American planes attacked the enemy-controlled shipyards from high level. The raid included planes of the United States Army Air Force, the R. A. F., the Canadian air force and the Polish air force.

One of the United States bombers was intercepted by a German Focke-Wulf 190 fighter on the return and some of the American crew were wounded. All of the bombers, however, returned safely to their base.

Two Focke-Wulfs were destroyed by the accompanying escort and two Allied fighters were lost.

Several other German fighters were believed damaged by British Spitfires.

o'clock. Beginning at 9 o'clock there will be a change in the light of the moon on one edge as the earth passes between the moon and the sun. The eclipse will last until 12:35 a. m.

A hint of fall was in the air this morning, the temperature dropping dangerously close to the freezing point. Pa. New noticed smoke coming from a good many chimneys this morning, householders finding it necessary to build a fire to warm up their places.

New Castle and Lawrence county defense workers have completed arrangements for handling the first daylight air raid drill, scheduled for Wednesday afternoon from 1:45 to 2 o'clock. One of the chief measures during the drill will be halting of all traffic. Pedestrians are also required to take cover during the 15-minute period.

Reports reaching Pa. New from the county districts indicate that the mercury certainly took a real tumble during the night. The lowest reported temperature from the county this morning was 35 degrees.

STRONG JAP FORCE ATTEMPTS TO OUST AMERICAN FORCES

tion was made of damage to either U. S. positions or enemy forces in this engagement.

Yesterday, the communiqué said, U. S. aircraft hit and damaged an enemy transport and a cruiser north of Guadalcanal and left both burning fiercely.

Attempt To Land
Mention of an enemy transport indicated that the Japs were attempting to land troops in an apparent effort to dislodge U. S. marines and other American forces in that area.

"The action continues," the navy stated.

It was recalled that several days ago, the Japanese landed 700 troops from speedy motor boats on one of the Solomon Islands, but a communiqué from Pearl Harbor stated that 670 of the Jap soldiers were wiped out by the hard-hitting U. S. marines and that 39 presumably were captured.

The Japanese striking force moved into the Solomons from the north-eastward, indicating that the enemy fleet probably came from an important base somewhere in the Caroline Islands, possibly Truk.

While the full scope of the action could not be evaluated immediately, it appeared that the sea and air battle may be even larger than the one in which the Nipponese were routed at the time of the attack on Midway Island early in June.

Large Scale Battle
The navy in its own words stated that American surface and air forces "are engaged in a large scale battle at sea in an attempt to repel a strong Japanese striking force."

The navy also stated that the counter-attack by the Japanese "was expected" following the capture of at least three important islands in the Solomons by U. S. marines.

"It was expected that our occupation of the important enemy base at Tulagi would be countered by a violent attempt on the part of the enemy to recapture their shore bases in this area," the communiqué explained. "This counter-attack has developed and is now being met."

Damage to two more Nipponese carriers in the present battle further crippled the enemy's striking power. Between 10 and 12 Japanese carriers have been sunk or damaged to

EVA SULMONETTI IS WEDS AT JAMESTOWN

Beautifully celebrated, was the formal twilight wedding ceremony which took place at Jamestown, N. Y., in the Epworth Methodist church, when Miss Eva Sulmonetti, daughter of the Rev. and Mrs. Francesco P. Y., were united in marriage, before a beautifully candlelighted altar, at 7 o'clock, Saturday August 17.

Cut your heating costs this winter

These 3 ways

You can count on these results:

Insulation

In winter you'll find your home easier to heat. In summer you'll find all rooms 10° to 15° cooler. Conservative estimates show that simple roof insulation or "capping" job—properly installed—can save 15 to 25 per cent of heating cost—and side wall insulation will increase this saving. Some home owners show insulation savings ranging up to 30 per cent.

Storm windows and doors
An important saving in your fuel bill can be made in this way, the actual saving depending of course on the size and number of windows and doors and the number exposed to cold winds. By creating an air cushion between two panes of glass, it takes less fuel to keep rooms at even temperature. Conservative estimates are that you can save 11 to 18 per cent of total heating bill—every year.

Weatherstripping

Important savings can be made by weatherstripping and caulking. When you stop cold air from entering you maintain more even room temperature and save fuel. Savings often amount to 15 per cent of your heating bill. As in the case of insulation and storm windows, all these steps to reduce heat losses in your home can make an undersized heating plant efficient enough to supply winter comfort for the whole house.

After the war you, too, can enjoy economical gas heat... if you don't have it now!

Regardless of what fuel you now use, proper insulation will give you substantial savings year after year. It is not too late to install the modern convenience of automatic gas heat, you will probably have it well before the war is over. But if you do not now to install insulation, storm windows, storm doors, and weatherstripping, when gas is again available for heating you, too, can heat your home in the modern way—at rock-bottom cost.

Insulate your house against heat losses, saving money for yourself and saving fuel for the war effort as well. Notice how melted snow on roof indicates how an uninsulated house heats all outdoors.

Install storm windows and doors, neither of which is restricted by priorities. When properly fitted, they can cut your heat losses considerably.

Weatherstrip your windows and doors, thus cutting heat losses from drafts that make it hard to keep your home at the right temperature for health.

Natural Gas is vital to War Industries...

Use it wisely!

BRAZIL IN WAR AGAINST AXIS

AFTER the wanton acts of aggression directed against her, there was nothing else that a nation of Brazil's stature could do but declare war on Germany and Italy. When the submarine campaign culminated recently in the torpedoing of five Brazilian ships in three days and the whole country flamed into indignant protest, it was evident that the time for final action had been reached.

The U-boat attacks on neutral Brazil's shipping were undeniable acts of war. They created, as President Vargas' note states, "a belligerent situation" which the Brazilians "are forced to recognize in defense of our dignity and sovereignty, our safety and that of America, and to repel it as our forces are able."

Our great good neighbor to the South, in other words, refuses to submit to the Axis. Our enemies are to be given no easy access to South America as a bridgehead for penetration of the Western Hemisphere and flank assault upon our own shores. Brazil resists, and we are proud to welcome her as our comrade-in-arms.

Militarily, entrance of Brazil into the war provides added security for a vital zone, the so-called bulge, which leans so invitingly to Dakar and which would be a logical landing-place for invading Axis planes from West Africa.

Psychologically, the step is even more important. Brazil is the first South American State to declare war. Its action will undoubtedly influence neighbor nations to take a similarly decisive step. It will accelerate Chile's progress from its present anomalous fence-sitting position. It will further isolate Argentina, still in the grip of a Government suspicious of inter-American collaboration.

And it will serve renewed notice upon Hitler that Americans, North, Central and South, are resolved to keep the New World forever free of his barbarous "new order."

TWO DOLLAR BILLS

In connection with the effort of the United States to prevent the Axis from clearing United States currency through Mexico an interesting fact about the two dollar bill has come to light. There is $54,000,000 in these bills outstanding but few of them ever went overseas.

To prevent the Axis powers from cashing in on their American money through Mexico that country has prohibited the importation of certain kinds of American money and restricted the use of American currency there. At the same time the United States is collecting American currency, with exceptions, at the border and has stopped the exportation of American money into Mexico, save in the case of coins and two dollar bills.

American tourists can take into Mexico checks, drafts and other credit instruments. They can carry all the coin and two dollar bills they want over the Rio Grande. Why was the two dollar bill excepted? It was found that few such bills have fallen into Axis hands, although large amounts of United States currency of other denominations have.

RAILROAD PERFORMANCE

Notices in railroad cars tell of the effect of the war on passenger travel comforts. The public is asked to understand the congestion and to bear patiently unavoidable inconveniences. Generally speaking, the public has understood, but any lingering doubts about the necessity of understanding should be dispelled by the statement of Col. A. Robert Ginsburgh, public relations director of the War Department's service of supply.

Colonel Ginsburgh reveals that in the first six months this year the railroads transported 5,250,000 soldiers. This has reference only to organized movements, taking no account of the many thousands of men who are constantly moving between camp and home. With a greatly increased number of civilian passengers to take care of also, the roads have met an unprecedented test with amazing efficiency. And that is true also of freight traffic. The performance is in great contrast to what happened in World War I days. The results are all the more remarkable in view of the fact that railroads, unlike industry, have been denied materials for expanding facilities. They have to get along with the equipment available when the crisis arrived.

But railroad management had been foresighted and forehanded, more so, perhaps, than the management of any industry vitally concerned with the war effort.

SUNKEN SHIPS BLOW TO JAPS

Additional assurances that this is no longer a one-way war with Japan is afforded by the Navy's communique describing the sinking, by American submarines, of four Japanese vessels and the probable sinking of a fifth.

The operations occurred in "enemy waters" but were separate from the Solomon Island engagements. Two of the ships were believed to be of 10,000 tons apiece. A third ship was a transport, probably of the same tonnage. One Jap vessel sent to the bottom was a destroyer.

It has been repeatedly stated that shipping is the most serious problem faced by the Japs. Since Pearl Harbor our Navy has sunk 51 Japanese combatant ships, counted 15 probably sunk and 50 damaged. But in non-combatant ships, the Navy sank 73, probably sank eight others and damaged 103. These figures are exclusive of Army attacks on Japanese shipping—altogether it is estimated that 241 Japanese ships of various kinds have been sunk or damaged.

A persistent campaign against Japanese shipping, especially by the highly efficient American submarines, is striking at one of the Island Empire's greatest weaknesses. Our own shipping loss from Axis attacks has been grievous, but American resources for construction of new shipping are enormous and growing. Japan's shipbuilding facilities and supplies of raw materials are distinctly limited.

The war must be won by fighting men, such as our Marines in the Solomons. But the victory will be hastened if the Army and Navy continue without letup in their attacks on Jap vessels.

We will be glad when the rubber production program gets on the home stretch.

If oil is where you find it, the Russians appear determined to see that Hitler doesn't find much in the Caucasus.

The Parent Problem

By Garry C. Myers, Ph. D.

HIGH-PITCHED VOICE IRRITATING

Why do high-pitched squeaky voices irritate us? Why does such a voice annoy children?

Many a parent talks very much louder, and with a very much higher pitched voice, to children and to those about her, than is necessary. Her voice is highest, loudest when she is most tired and irritable. It is then that children grow irritated, too, and talk louder.

If the average parent could hear his own voice when he is talking to his own children, he would be very much surprised. If he had to listen to it 15 minutes he would want to run away. No one wants to be a nuisance. If he talks in such a way as to be an irritant to others it is not his wish to do so. Human nature acts that way.

Irritating Voices

At the moment when we get excited or things don't go right, or we get a little angry, up go our voices, we then to those who have to listen to us. The average mother has so much to do and there are so many little annoyances which come her way that frequently she may be led to lose control of herself temporarily and raise her voice.

The thousand problems which she must meet and the many duties that are thrust upon her often keep her at a tension. Consequently these little incidents of annoyance may come so frequently that her voice may be highly keyed, not only when she is irritated and angry, but at all other times as well.

In consequence, she may talk at high pitch and loudly nearly all the time unless she sets out to correct this difficulty. Sometimes she is not aware of this malady. Her children also may not notice it, but they are irritated by it just the same.

Cultivate A Soft Voice

They associate a high-pitched, loud voice with annoyance and anger. Consequently when anyone, whether or not in a good humor, speaks in a high-keyed voice it stirs up unhappy feelings in us. It suggests anger excitement to almost every human being. On the other hand, when mothers talked to us and cuddled us as babies, and when we saw them fondling and cuddling other children, at those moments when they were dearest to us and talked like comrades with us about our problems, and showed us their sympathy, they spoke softly and calmly.

It is inevitable that we associate a sweet, soft, mellow voice with happiness. We respond with pleasant feelings to such a voice. On the other hand, when the high-pitched voice is heard the unpleasant feelings which habitually had been associated with that quality of voice come up again in us.

One Man's Opinion

By WALTER KIERNAN
International News Service Staff Writer
Figures don't lie—only flunkers.

This is as good a time as any to lay one small ghost—that it doesn't make any difference to the war effort when only a small percentage of the working population is on strike.

Ladies and gentlemen—if only 0.000357 of the working population is on strike and that percentage is hampering production of bomb sights, or something equally important, it is big stuff.

Washington has a tendency to overlook that sort of thing. Washington loves to "look at all the people who are working!"

Frankly—we don't care! How many people who should be working on important jobs are not working—that's what we are most interested in!

We are getting a little tired of being told that the great mass of workmen are on the jobs. We expected that from free-born American workmen who know that we are in a fight.

Who are the boys who put dollars above freedom who put organization above patriotism, who would chisel a dollar in times like these—that's what we want to know!

Thought for the day: Woodrow Wilson said it—"Work or Fight!"

What Noted People Say

(International News Service)
AURORA, ILL.—Senator James J. Davis of Pennsylvania addressing the Loyalty Order of Moose: "This is a war for survival. We as an organized fraternal society can help bring it to a successful conclusion for our people if we throw every resource we have into the fight."

WASHINGTON — Rear Admiral W. H. P. Blandy, in a broadcast from somewhere in the Pacific explains the temper of the Navy: "Those fighting men would simply not understand a delay in the production of their fighting tools because of some hassle over prices by a contractor, a sympathetic strike, or a shutdown occasioned by a jurisdictional dispute between unions."

BALTIMORE — Senator Millard Tydings hails capture of the Solomon Islands: "The many islands lying between the Solomons and Japan must be conquered and used as stepping stones to carry our forces gradually northward toward the Philippines as well as northward to the continent of Asia and finally to the Islands of Japan."

LOYALTY

Loyalty is a mighty word. It is a positive word. It rings true. Loyalty means that one will work with the same degree of intensity when the boss is absent as when he is present.

Loyalty brings men and women to their places of employment and keeps them there till quitting time and after, if necessary. Loyalty goes home with you. It persuades you to use your hours of unemployment that your physical and mental standards are no lowered during the hours of employment.

Loyalty puts you to bed early. It teaches you and shows you that your duty is not only to work for your employer, but to guard his interests as well.

Washington Watches Brazil Situation
Await Vargas' Promise Of Vengeance
Germans Are Pretty Strong In Brazil

By CHARLES P. STEWART
Central Press Columnist

WASHINGTON, Aug. 25.—Washington is waiting interestedly to see how President Getulio Vargas of Brazil will make good on his promise that German U-boats' recent raid on his coast, with the sinking of five Brazilian merchantmen, "will not go unavenged."

Brazil broke relations with the Axis at the same time as the rest of Latin America—Argentina and Chile excepted—but it didn't declare outright hostilities.

Now, according to Senator Vargas (Senhor is Portuguese, Brazil's language, for Mister), it's on the unqualified warpath. And Getulio speaks for his country, as much as Hitler did for Germany. About five years ago he abolished Brazilian legislation and set up in business as a dictator. Adolf and Duce Mussolini are said to have been much gratified, thinking that as a New World totalitarian, he'd be very helpful to 'em. What they didn't take into account was the detail that while he likes to dictate, he decidedly doesn't like being dictated to.

Here Hitler tried it. Germans are pretty strong in Brazil. Out of a total population of about 45,000,000 they number around 500,000. The Italian strain probably is thicker than the German, but it's more diffused over the whole republic.

Uprising Short-Lived
The Germans are packed very solidly together, to the southward. There are sizable towns there where German's are predominant.

These internal activities having fizzled so disastrously, the Nazis resorted to coastal looting. It creates a heck of an unpleasant situation for German colonists ashore. They're getting their property confiscated and their shops overtaken and even their lives aren't overly good insurance risks.

The Italians are unpopular also, though they're keeping discreetly quiet.

The Japs aren't numerous enough on the Atlantic coast to signify.

But how could President Vargas register against the Nazis?

Experts estimate that he can't spare up more than 400,000 tolerably well-trained soldiers, and he hasn't much of a navy and no shipping to transport his manpower to Europe or Africa.

Yet his east coast bulge into the Atlantic is a convenient base for operations toward Africa's coastal bulge from the opposite direction. It's a short hop across, aviation-wise. For instance, a springboard for a jump at threatening Dakar, the Brazilian Amazon's mouth couldn't be improved on.

What's more, Brazil can do some flying on its own.

Latin America is more thoroughly air-minded than is generally realized.

MEMORIES
These are bits which I remember of the dim and distant past.

The notion hook and ladders and fire engines traveled fast. The horses on the saloon and the wish that I might be.

Some day the able driver of Hose Wagon Number Three. My father's love for cribbage. I hear him now as then.

Ten fifteen two, and fifteen four, and three brave kings are ten.

These are bits from boyhood's page: the scalding tears we shed. Over that grimness of all tragedies—a pet dog lost or dead.

The books we got for birthdays or the prize at Sunday school.

The picnic at the island where they'd built a winning team. The noisy giant crackers, many a finger burned by them.

And July the Fourth, to shoot them, getting up at 4 a. m.

Sometimes alone and drowsy I go wandering back through time.

To wonder if still standing are the trees I used to climb?

And what about the comrades and the girls I knew back then? Has time dealt kindly with them. Shall we ever meet again?

Has death destroyed the lilacs by the mother's kitchen door? Is that the father's rooming? "Fifteen two and fifteen four?"

The days fly by so swiftly that by every one that dies.

To a world entirely different from the one we left we rise.

Little joys we scarcely noticed in the years of long ago.

By the magic touch of memory in living splendors grow.

For although the years are many since he reached the golden shore.

I still hear my father counting "Fifteen two and fifteen four."

Words Of Wisdom

Better to be poisoned in one's blood, than to be poisoned in one's principles.

LOOKING AT LIFE

—By Erich Brandeis

John Barrymore's personal effects and house furnishings went on the auction block in Hollywood, to satisfy tax judgments and creditors.

Among the effects offered to the highest bidder is what the actor called his $5,000 doorstop. It is a book, handwritten on vellum about 1425 A. D. and credited to Jean Froissant. A rare collector's item, Barrymore used it to prop open a creaky door.

Many a righteous citizen will lift his eyes in horror and exclaim: "What waste! What profligacy! What pity that a man who earned fortunes should have died a pauper. What an example to set for our young!"

On yshaw and then some, is fair answer? Barrymore was romance. Barrymore was genius. Barrymore was made-believe.

Would you have a man like him sitting at a desk, making out his rent check each first of the month? Would you have him haggle over the price of a suit and actually pay for it?

We do not want to picture our minnesingers on bookkeepers' stools, but on dazzling white steeds, riding away from reality and debt.

How could you expect a John Barrymore to be steadfast to one woman when a million women swooned for him?

We can never hope to pay the debt we owe to those who take us, for a few short hours, into a realm of dreams-come-true.

We should bless those who give us beauty and romance, who give us harmony and music, who let us forget reality and live life at its best.

There is one item in John Barrymore's ledger which makes all the others balance. It reads: "He gave us happiness."

The World and the Mud Puddles

A REMARKABLE EDITORIAL

The International Brotherhood Teamsters, Chauffeurs, Warehousemen and Helpers of America is a very strong and powerful union. It's official organ is The International Teamster and what this magazine has to say about wages of labor and inflation is well worth reading. It shows that there is at least one union organization in America that has not lost all sense of proportion. This is what the magazine has to say in one of its recent issues.

"Twenty dollars a day is a pretty good wage. But it doesn't mean much if your groceries cost you thirty dollars a day."

To catch up with your grocery bill, you demand a wage increase of ten dollars a day. But by the time you get to your grocery bill, you have jumped to forty dollars. So you are still one jumped behind. That is inflation.

"That is why President Roosevelt is trying desperately to prevent inflation. He knows what it does to the working man. Wages never catch up with prices when inflation starts."

"It is beginning to look as though the president must have some intelligent co-operation from labor if he is going to stop the race between prices and wages."

"Ordinarily a working man doesn't have to worry about things like this. He hires a congressman, pays him ten thousand dollars a year and expects him to give intelligent co-operation to the president to prevent such economic catastrophes as inflation."

"This year, however, the average working man hasn't got a very bright congressman. Most of them are more worried about getting special privileges for themselves—such as pensions and unlimited vacation cards—than they are about getting a working man his groceries."

"So you had better forget about your congressman—until election day—and start figuring this out for yourself."

"All things stand now the congressmen that they can get themselves a lot of votes if they secure the president's program and give farmers more money for their crops."

"This, of course, means that you will pay more for your groceries. But the congressman tells you you can get a pay raise to buy the farmers' crops."

"He knows, but he doesn't tell you, that you can't increase your pay as fast as the prices of groceries can rise, for one reason and another."

Air Raid Siren Being Erected In Seventh Ward

D. O. Davis, safety director for the city, today announced the city is erecting an electric siren on the Cherry street fire department building.

The siren arrived yesterday. Davis said that if the siren can be operated tonight, a test likely will be sounded at 7:30 p. m. It will not be for an air raid drill.

The city will use this siren for the Seventh ward district Wednesday. The siren will sound in the business district Wednesday at 1:45 p. m.

Fire engines will be backed out of houses or placed strategically so their sirens can be heard in different sections and factory whistles will also be sounded for the "raid" and "end of raid" at 1:45 p. m. and two p. m., respectively, Wednesday.

Change Dates For Landlord Signing At County Points

North Street Center Reports 6,200 City Names Registered

Wampum landlords will be registered on August 27 and 28 and West Pittsburg landlords on August 27 only, under the revised county visitation schedule of registrars, Miss Nannie L. Mitchell, supervisor of the county registration, said today.

Reporting "about 6,200" New Castle landlords registered today, Miss Mitchell said the enrollment is progressing well. City landlords are registering at the North Street center.

Owners of dwellings and apartment buildings and tourist cabins along highways are registering this week it was pointed out.

Miss Mitchell explained that where renters sub-rent a part of their dwelling they, too, are landlords and must sign. A landlord, she stressed, is anyone who receives rent or is entitled to receive rent for a dwelling unit.

24 hours a day, producing equipment, arms and ammunition for the ever-growing citizen army of defenders.

Defend City Street By Street Soviet civilians have shown more than once that they can defend a city street by street, and house by house.

The Red army high command in its mid-day communique conceded that Nazi Field Marshal Fedor Von Bock's forces which crossed the Don River succeeded in pressing Soviet troops back to the east in intense battles southeast of Kletskaya.

Six heavy assaults by the Nazis in the Kletskaya area, northeast of Stalingrad, were said to have been repelled.

A report by the Vichy radio claimed that German forces which had crossed the Don at several places were now threatening Stalingrad with a frontal assault, as well as bearing down on the jaws of a pincer drive from the northwest and southwest.

The same Vichy radio, using an alleged Stockholm date, said the Germans were pouring across the Don by bridges, boats and dafis.

It claimed also that the Nazis had broken through northwest of Stalingrad and were advancing on Dubovka, while the Luftwaffe had cut the vital Moscow-Stalingrad railway at Log, 50 miles northwest of the latter.

Claim Bombers Attack

It was claimed that German bombers were attacking Stalingrad from the air, preliminary to infantry and tank assaults.

"Northwest of Kotelnikovo," the Soviet high command said, "fierce fighting continues with our troops checking the progress of enemy tanks and mechanized infantry."

It had been declared earlier that the Nazis had driven a wedge into the Soviet defenses in this sector, 95 miles southwest of Stalingrad.

"Fierce, bloody battles are raging northeast of Kotelnikovo," the newspaper Pravda said.

"Russian artillery is continually pounding German tanks and infantry wedged in the Soviet defenses."

A rapid advance was scored by the Nazis in their drive toward the oil fields of Grozny when they penetrated 70 miles southeast of Prativorsk to Prokhladnaya on the Poyt-Baku railway only 80 miles from Grozny.

The Soviet communique announced that a German Alpine unit operating in the Caucasus foothill region of the Prokhladnaya area had been surrounded. An attack by considerable infantry and tank forces was said to have been beaten back.

New Withdrawal

The Soviet air force engaged in heavy action below Krasnodar in the western Caucasus after the Russians were forced to make a new withdrawal bringing greater peril to the Black Sea naval base of Novorossiisk.

South of Krasnodar the communique said, "the Soviet air force in cooperation with infantry, destroyed enemy tanks and manpower."

It was announced that German attacks on the front northwest of Moscow had been repulsed.

A frontline dispatch from the Kotelnikovo area of the Stalingrad front said that German tanks which had penetrated Soviet defenses northeast of Kotelnikovo had been separated from infantry forces which were supposed to have followed.

That the German units smashing toward the oil fields at Grozny after having been denied oil at Miakop when the Russians destroyed wells and installations there, still were making headway was indicated by a Red army announcement stating that its forces were waging defensive battles in the Prokhladnaya area against German tanks and motorized infantry.

The Vichy radio broadcast an unconfirmed report claiming that Nazi forces advancing on Grozny had reached the vicinity of Scherinsk. Other forces were said to have occupied Koshkote, 75 miles west-southwest of the Caspian sea port of Astrakhan.

Services Use Synthetic Rubber Made From Oil, Rotary Told At Luncheon

Synthetic rubber made from petroleum now is being used by both the Army and Navy, Henry Roemer, special representative of the Standard Oil Co. of Pennsylvania, told the Rotary club yesterday.

Speaking at The Castleton, Roemer told his audience that thousands of pounds daily are being turned out from company plants, and every ounce of it is going into tanks, planes and other vital war machines to aid the United States victory effort.

He said: "By this time next year our rate of synthetic rubber production will be greater than the rate that natural rubber has ever been imported from the Far East. Construction of plants throughout the country is progressing rapidly; one for tire rubber having been put into operation during May, a second one during June with another slated to get under way in a few weeks."

Roemer emphasized that synthetic tires for civilians are not likely to be available until 1944 at the earliest because of the tremendous demands of military, lend-lease and other essential uses.

"The nation's present synthetic rubber program," he said, "calls for the production of at least 872,000 tons per year which is 300,000 tons more than normal peacetime U. S. rubber consumption for all purposes. Seven hundred thousand tons of this is to be the German I. G. Farben developed Buna S, which was brought to this country by Standard Oil scientists before the war and which has proven to be 15 to 30 percent better than natural rubber for tires. One hundred and thirty-two thousand tons will be Standard's own development, Butyl rubber, which is now about 75 percent as good as natural rubber for tires and 40,000 tons will be duPont's Neoprene."

Agriculture, coal and petroleum will make the raw materials for the Buna rubber and the tire industry will put them together.

$81,900,000 worth of grain will furnish alcohol for 210,000 tons of the needed butadiene and a portion of the raw material for styrene.

$9,900,000 worth of benzol from coal will make most of the styrene needed plus a little butadiene.

$22,300,000 worth of petroleum refinery gases will make 410,000 tons of butadiene and also furnish raw material for some of the styrene.

"The big problem in making large quantities of Buna rubber," Roemer said, "has been in the extraction of enough of the principal raw material, butadiene, from petroleum. This obstacle has now been largely overcome, he stated, "by the recent discovery by Standard Oil scientists of a revolutionary new process which makes it possible to 'have your cake and eat it too'; that is, we can now get butadiene in fairly large amounts from 100 Octane gasoline plants without curtailing the output of the aviation gas."

"This development," Roemer said, "increases the potential volume of synthetic rubber likely to be available in the next few years by from 20 to 300 percent of previous estimates."

Reviewing his company's scientific exploratory work in connection with ersatz rubber production, Roemer said that eight months before Germany's attack on Poland the Standard Oil Co. gave full data to the U. S. Army and Navy Munitions board at Washington on both Buna and Butyl types of synthetic rubber.

"Before Pearl Harbor," he declared, "Standard Oil spent more than $12,000,000 of its own money developing synthetic rubber in this country."

"When the European war started in 1939," Roemer said, "Standard dissolved all its connections with the I. G. Farbenindustrie, and the German trust from then on had no control of patents in the United States, the British or French Empires, and received no more information as to research progress from this country."

Situation In Alaska Shows Improvement

(International News Service)

SEATTLE, Aug. 25.—Definite improvement in the military situation in Alaska was reported by Sen. Mon. C. Wallgren, Washington, who was back in Seattle after a two weeks air tour in the north as a member of a special senate military affairs subcommittee.

"The problems are difficult, but we are preparing ourselves much better," said Wallgren. "Over a period of months I have been a sharp critic as to what has been done in Alaska and the Aleutians."

"We spent two weeks covering Alaska by air. We visited all the major military establishments and landed at the most advanced base in the Aleutians."

"There is no question but we got the facts, and I will say the military situation is definitely improving. We have a splendid group of officers up there."

Sen. Wallgren was accompanied by Sen. Harold Burton, Ohio. Other members of the committee, Sen. A. B. Chandler, Kentucky, the chairman, and Sen. Rufus C. Holman, Ore., are returning by boat.

Sen. Wallgren revealed that he had spent some time at a far west outpost near Kiska from which American forces are trying to dislodge the Japanese. While he did not say any Jap planes from the unidentified base, he said people stationed there often did. It is only a short flight from there to Kiska, the senator declared.

Sens. Wallgren and Burton will confer with Lieut. Gen. John L. Dewitt in San Francisco before returning to Washington, they said.

... A SHARP ENEMY ATTACK WAS REPULSED DURING THE NIGHT ...

TODAY'S war communiques have a familiar ring to the men of your electric company. For years, they've been fighting cyclones, sleet, snow, lightning, and other natural enemies, right around the clock and the calendar.

When real war came, they were ready. Ready for day and night duty. Ready to keep the lines hot with the precious electricity that powers America's war industries.

Tank, plane and ship production schedules that seemed fantastic a few months ago are being surpassed today—partly because these men knew their job so well. They knew the job because they learned it the hard way—the American way—from the ground up.

That's true right along the line. Many electric company executives began by digging holes, reading meters and climbing poles. Their initiative and intelligence kept them climbing.

Proved, practical business management of this kind, built upon the savings of millions of Americans, has given this country by far the most and the best electric service in the world. It's the reason why the average American home enjoys cold milk and hot coffee, clean rugs and clean clothes, accurate time and accurate news electrically—all for about a dime a day!

Only a few people could have accomplished that.

COLLECTS DISTRICT ATTORNEY'S PICTURES

Within a short time, District Attorney Leroy K. Donaldson expects to have a framed picture of every district attorney who has served the county of Lawrence hung on the walls of his office in the court house annex. Mr. Donaldson started this year, and now has 15 pictures in the collection.

Each picture is of a uniform size, copies being made from photographs of the former D. A's.

There have been 28 men who have held this office since the county was formed in 1853, only one, Aaron L. Hazen having served more than one term. The office was held for three years until 1910, the late Judge Thomas W. Dickey being the first to serve a four-year term.

Those following him have served this length of time, except Attorney Donaldson, who just assumed office the first of the year.

Those who have held the office in the order of their success, are the following: David Craig, 1854-1857; Benjamin B. Pickett, 1857-1860; John P. Blair, 1860-1863; Robert Gilliland, 1863-1866; J. Smith DuShane, 1866-1869; Oscar L. Jackson, 1869-1872; Aaron L. Hazen, 1872-1878; John McConahy, 1878-1881; B. A. Wintermiltz, 1881-1883; Malcolm McConnell, 1883-1886; Samuel L. McCracken, 1886-1889; A. L. Porter, 1889-1892; S. P. Emery, 1892-1895; Robert K. Aiken, 1895-1898; W. J. Moffatt, 1898-1901; C. E. Mehard, 1901-1904; Joseph V. Cunningham, 1904-1907; Charles H. Young, 1907-1910; Thomas W. Dickey, 1910-1914; Clyde V. Alley, 1914-1918; George W. Muse, 1918-1922; R. L. Hildebrand, 1922-1926; J. Elder Bryan, 1926-1930; John S. Powers, 1930-1934; Mont L. INCREASE DOCTOR'S FEE

Because of the difficulty in getting physicians to go out at any hour of the night to examine persons taken into custody on a charge of driving an automobile while under the influence of intoxicating liquor, due to the fact that the number of doctors is growing less because of the demands made by the United States military services, and that those remaining at home are so busy with their regular practice, the county has raised the fee for this service from $5 to $10 per call. Announcement of this fact was made today by District Attorney Roy K. Donaldson. Doctors in the future will receive the increased fee for this examination.

TO DESTROY CONFISCATED GAMBLING MACHINES

Orders were signed by Judge W. Walter Brabant, Monday, giving County Detective Charles D. Ross authority to destroy gambling machines seized in recent raids, conducted by him and the State Liquor Control Board.

These were taken at the Society Umberto Primo, 110 Division street, and Albino Roumanian Society, 1020 South Jefferson street.

An order was also issued by the court impounding the sum of $18.74 seized on the person of John Delbene, who was arrested on a number charge, the money being believed to be receipts from the numbers racket.

REGISTRATIONS INCREASE

Registration of new voters has stepped up a little in the last two weeks, due to the approach of the coming election.

For the two weeks ending August 22, there were 15 voters registered as Democrats, 20 as Republicans, while one changed his registration from Democrat to Republican, and two from Republican to Democrat.

Suit Is Filed Over Tax Sale In Mercer County

MERCER, Pa. Aug. 25.—Jefferson township school directors, road supervisors and a township taxpayer claimed sale of a 120-acre farm for $200, to the daughter of County Commissioner Frank Fair, was "illegal and void" in a suit against the county commissioners and Mr. and Mrs. Cecil McComb. They asked the farm be resold.

County commissioners sold the farm at a tax sale last June 29 to Mrs. McComb, daughter of the commissioners. The suit charged that Mrs. McComb actually represented her father in the purchase and that Fair had used his power as a commissioner to have the sale advertised in two weekly newspapers to deter competitive bidding and keep down the price.

COUNTY LEGION GROUP WILL MEET

Delegates from the Perry S. Gaston Post, American Legion, will go to Aliquippa, Friday evening, for the monthly meeting of the Beaver county committee of which the local post is a member. The meeting will take place in the Elks club there. Reports from the state convention will be given, and the committee of which the local post is a member. The meeting will take place in the Elks club there. Reports from the state convention will be given, and the committee will greet the new district commander, William Mitsch.

These "mental cases" reported by induction centers may be genuine. A guy can be scared crazy.

But profiteering causes a lot of apparent indignation which is nothing more than envy.

WOLVES MEMBERS TO HAVE OUTING

This evening, members of the Wolves club will have their annual outing, in the form of a corn roast, at DeCarbo's camp, Wilmington Junction.

Activities will get under way at 6:30 o'clock, with the serving of a tasty lunch. Following an informal program will be enjoyed.

Note on patriotism: The West can't get money to produce steel because the big companies are afraid of competition after the war.

Food Wardens Are Projected

Housewives Will Carry Meat
Rationing Plans To Nation

By JAMES OLDS

WASHINGTON, Aug. 25.—The agriculture department disclosed that "housewife food wardens" will carry government meat rationing and anti-inflation plans to the civilian consumers of the nation.

The plan would put a housewife leader on every city block in the nation, charged with circulating government "food communiques" among her neighbors.

Tests Being Made

Department officials revealed that the plan has already been put into effect "on a test basis" in three cities.

Preliminary reports from these cities "show that the program has been very effective in channelling consumer demand away from shortage commodities and toward products which show surpluses."

Some of the sample communiques issued by the Agriculture department in cooperation with the Federal Security Administration are:

1. Housewives are advised to store flour while production is high. Farm labor shortages in the future may cause a shortage of wheat. With this communique came information on how flour might be stored to guard against waste.

Request Made

2. A request that "housewives serve cheese, poultry, or fish several nights a week, instead of meat in order to assure equitable distribution of the nation's short meat supplies.

3. A clarification of meat shortage and ration rumors. Housewives were told that consumer meat supplies are average, but warned that since high war wages and ceiling-low prices would boost demand it is necessary to curb civilian consumption to even out distribution.

4. Housewives were advised that with milk production high, milk products will make good meat substitutes.

Agriculture authorities said that the program may include such ration schemes as meatless days or the voluntary curtailment of civilian purchases of coffee. They believe that the "Block Leader" plan will also tend to curb the rising prices of non-ceiling foods, by voluntary consumer self rationing.

Slippery Rock Digs Out After Severe Storm

SLIPPERY ROCK, Pa., Aug. 25.—Farmers, telephone company employees, power line "trouble-shooters" and other maintenance employees were swamped with work Monday following the terrific storm in this section Saturday night. The loss in orchards and crops, particularly corn, will mount into the thousands, it is believed.

Slippery Rock was without lights and electric power for more than an hour. The Methodist church at Blacktown was struck by lightning with damage to furnace and basement.

Windows were blown out in several homes. Telephone lines were downed by falling trees in many sections. A bus on the Slippery Rock-Grove City road narrowly escaped when a tree fell across the highway in front of it.

SMALL FIRE

City firemen were called to Perelman's, 129 East Washington street, at 2:15 o'clock Monday afternoon, when wiring to store lights under the display window became shorted. The store was somewhat filled with smoke, but no serious fire damage resulted.

Is it a pious act to help a kid get an education? Well, are college grads better citizens or only smarter ones?

Specialists are needed for the Army Air Corps, Signal Corps and Ordnance branch, Bilpuch said. The eight organizations, which have offered to promote the recruiting are the Moose, Eagles, Elks and the Veterans of Foreign Wars (Ne-shannock and McBride posts), American Legion, Marine Corps League, Twenty-Eighth Division Society and the Legion of Honor.

DAYLIGHT DRILL

Chief Air Raid Warden Frank Sargent today discussed the daylight air raid drill between 1:45 and 2 o'clock Wednesday afternoon. He said:

Industries will continue to operate. Stores and offices will remain open. They must take care of internal safety measures. External lights must be turned off.

People must be kept away from windows. No person will be permitted out of such places while the drill is under way.

All street traffic shall cease while the drill is under way.

Persons in automobiles must evacuate and take nearest shelter. This does not mean porches.

OCD workers will be on duty.

FORTY-FIVE VIOLATIONS

There were 45 violations of the recent blackout, according to city OCD headquarters. Only those responsible for the most flagrant violations will be prosecuted. There were some house violations. However, in practically every instance, those responsible quickly complied with the law when apprised of the blackout, or others in the vicinity, in order to save absentees embarrassment, took charge of the situation.

ARE YOU DOING ANYTHING?

In these days of trial, when the future of our country is at stake, it should not be necessary to beg anyone to join the OCD. Men in military service are doing their duty. They are giving up more than anyone at home and when reports come of inability to secure sufficient OCD workers, thoughts that follow are not so pleasant.

Scout Messengers

Boy Scout blackout messengers today were ordered to be at their posts by 1:30 p. m. for duty during Wednesday afternoon's practice daylight air raid drill, scheduled to be in effect from 1:45 to 2 p. m.

U. S. Power In Pacific Is Believed Greatly Strengthened

More Confidence On Pacific Coast

United Nations Outposts In Pacific Also Much Stronger Now

FURTHER ATTACKS MAY BE EXPECTED

By JOSEPH A. BORS
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)
WASHINGTON, Aug. 25.—America's Pacific coast as well as U. S. and United Nations outposts from Alaska to Australia are much stronger today than they ever have been as the result of a series of victories over the Japanese in the past few months.

This is the consensus of conservative military and naval experts who have been watching eagerly for further developments in the Pacific since the American sea and aerial offensive was launched against Japanese invasion bases in the Solomons and the western Aleutians.

More Confidence
The feeling of uncertainty that permeated official Washington prior to the unsuccessful Japanese invasion thrust at Midway island appears to have been replaced by one of expectancy that new blows against the enemy may be struck momentarily.

Analysts warn, however, that further Japanese blows may come and that much remains to be accomplished before America regains complete domination of the Pacific. They assert that victories during the past five months have strengthened greatly the U. S. position and have blunted Japan's striking power.

These sources point out that seizure by the Japanese of at least three important islands in the Solomons has bolstered greatly American and United Nations bases in Australia, New Guinea and New Caledonia. So long as the Japanese controlled the whole Solomon area, the enemy was in a position to strike at any time against the Free French island of New Caledonia, which American troops have been helping to guard for months.

Vital Link
New Caledonia is the vital southern anchor of the main supply route between the United States, Hawaii and Australia, and American strategists long have considered it an important link in the whole Pacific war plan.

Since the Japanese defeat off Midway island early in June, the base there and others in the Hawaiian group undoubtedly have received still more reinforcements of men and materials and are believed to be in much better position for offensive moves than they ever have been.

Prior to the American victory at Midway, the nation's highest officials, including Secretary of War, had feared a Japanese attack upon the Pacific coast. The fact that the enemy has since then even against Midway since then is interpreted now as a good omen. The fact that there have been no renewed attacks upon Dutch Harbor also is an indication that the Japanese have been unable to make much use of the American islands seized by the enemy in the Kiska area. Jap bases were badly battered in an American naval blow early this month against Kiska.

While no one can predict what moves the Japanese may make next, the feeling persists in Washington that the United States has seized the initiative in the Pacific conflict and that from now on the enemy will be forced more and more to assume a defensive attitude.

U. S. Troops In Maneuvers In Desert Areas

(International News Service)
CAMP YOUNG, Imperial Valley, Cal., Aug. 25.—Thousands of American troops began "Libyan" maneuvers Monday in the most grueling "war game" ever ordered by the American army.

Moving out of a series of tent cities, established during the last few months in desert lands considered well high uninhabitable, the soldiers played their grim game of hide and seek under the most difficult conditions and the command of Maj. Gen. Alvan C. Gillem, Jr.

The maneuvers have been split into nine separate battles in which the troops, already somewhat conditioned to the desert, will receive their "graduation" in heat resistance.

Some of the army orders to the troops illustrate clearly the intensity of the desert heat. There are strict orders that no vehicle, armored car, jeep, tank or anything else must enter the desert in pairs, so that a breakdown may not be fatal to the crews.

The desert cannot be entered without a two-day supply of water, one day's supply for the time spent in actual operations, the second day's supply for reserve.

Each man is given a gallon of water per day on maneuvers, and all the water he wants at his post. But he must be careful with it. Water carried in steel cans gets so hot by midday the soldiers cannot use it even to wash their hands.

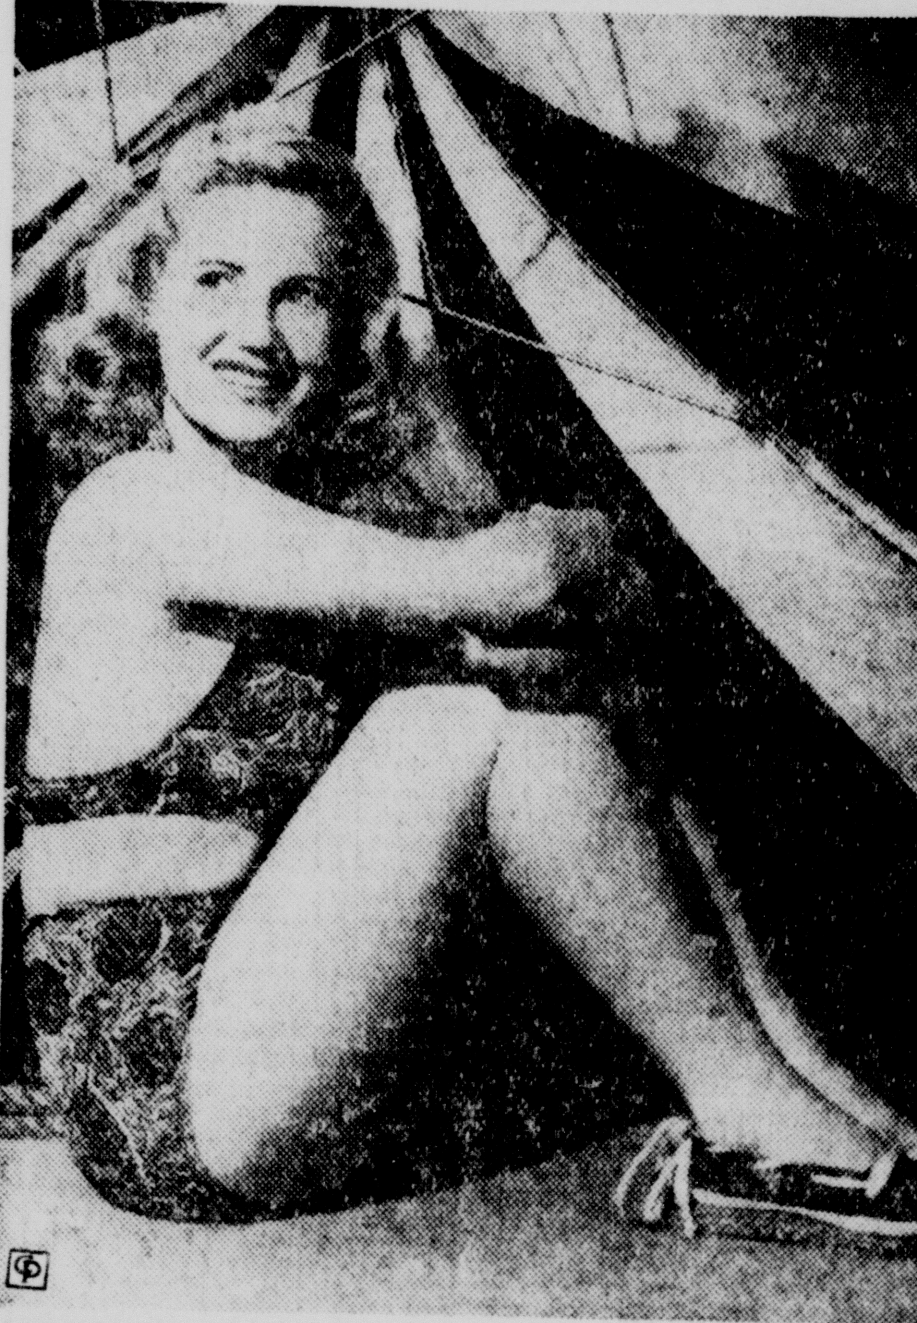

State Elks Name Officers Monday
ERIE, Pa., Aug. 25.—The Pennsylvania State Elks Association, at the opening sessions of their thirty-fifth annual convention, Monday, elected K. L. Shirk president. Shirk is district attorney of Lancaster county.

Other officers named were: Ralph C. Robinson, Wilkes-Barre vice-president; William Gould, Scranton, secretary; Charles Brown, Pittsburgh, treasurer; and John T. Lyons, Sharon, trustee. This will make Gould's twenty-seventh year as secretary.

Jap Flyers Ran Into Ambush Of U. S. Flyers

By PAT ROBINSON
(International News Service)
SOMEWHERE IN AUSTRALIA, Aug. 25.—A doughty Oklahoman, Lieut. James Moorhead, of Washington, led his flight into the startled Japanese air armada that raided Port Darwin Sunday and before you could say "Pat Robinson" he sent two of the 47 enemy planes hurtling into the sea. Altogether our boys got 13 Jap ships and didn't lose one.

It brought his total bag of Japs to seven, while Captain George Keise of Somerset, Ky., knocked down an enemy bomber raising his score to four bombers and four Zeros, with three other "probables."

It was an all-American show as squadrons of Yankee piloted Curtiss P-40's (Kittyhawks) went up nearly six miles into the skies over the North Australian port and gave the Japanese one of the soundest beatings one air squadron has ever taken from another.

Japs In Great Force
The Japs came over in great force, with 27 bombers and an escort of 20 vaunted Zero fighters. They undoubtedly had hoped for much, for they came in at an altitude of more than five miles, and from an unexpected direction, hoping to surprise the defenders or at least keep above the effective range of the Allied anti-aircraft fire.

But all they got was a licking and a terrific scare as swarms of Kittyhawks roared out of the skies and shot them down like well-fed pigeons.

"I came in head-on on one of those Nips and came so close I could see his face," said Lieut. Moorhead.

"He looked worried. With his engine and wing afire he had plenty of reason."

It was the 28th Japanese raid on Port Darwin, and they came with one of the largest formations they have sent against this base.

Gave Enemy Something New
The American pursuit pilots gave the enemy something new in the way of fighting tactics. Possibly the Japs have heard so much about the superior speed, climbing ability and maneuverability of their Zeros that they have become a little over confident.

It would come under the head of military secrets to tell just what tactics were used by the Yankees, but what the Japs thought would be easy sailing turned out to be a hornet's nest.

The ambush was laid by one of the most experienced fighter groups in the American Air Force. They ran up a score that the fabulous American Volunteer Group would be proud of.

Sunday's total brought the total of enemy planes destroyed in the Port Darwin area to 24 bombers and 41 Zeros, with 29 others probably destroyed. Allied losses have been 17 pursuit ships.

The raiders came over in their usual tight formation of three, almost in a straight line. They were intercepted before they reached the target. Some jettisoned their bombs in the sea and fled for home. Those that got through were so startled they missed the target area literally by miles.

State Warns On Food Poisoning
(International News Service)
HARRISBURG, Aug. 25.—The state department of health today cautioned people against food poisoning, which it termed "most likely to occur at this time of year."

Dr. J. Moore Campbell, director of health conservation, ordered all district medical officers, county medical officers, sanitarians and nursing services to report to the department food poisoning outbreaks immediately.

"It is regrettable," he declared, "that these outbreaks are almost never reported either to or by local health authorities. Until they are reported, the state department of health cannot intelligently estimate the magnitude of the problem nor institute methods and measures of control and prevention."

Big Increase In Income Savings
(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, Aug. 25.—An "extraordinary rise" in individual saving, accompanying the wartime rise in national income, was announced today by the department of commerce.

Individual savings leaped from ten and one half billion dollars during the second quarter of 1941 to 24 billion dollars, more than double, in the second quarter of 1942.

During the same period, the national income rose from an annual rate of 96 billion dollars to an annual rate of 102 billion. Retail price increases, however, absorbed much of the advance.

Report Fairbanks In Commando Raid
(International News Service)
LONDON, Aug. 25.—Authoritative London sources today denied that Lieut. Douglas Fairbanks, Jr., of the U. S. navy had participated in last week's smashing commando raid on Dieppe.

Reuters (British) news agency earlier printed a report that Fairbanks had taken part in the raid and quoted a cable he sent to a friend in Hollywood that he was "safe after thrilling experiences."

Reuters later asked London papers to hold up the story and finally killed it.

Second Front Up To Leaders

Only Military Strategists Should Make Decision Says Lord Halifax

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, Aug. 25.—Lord Halifax, British ambassador, declared Monday that the British people share with Americans the keen desire to open a second front, but added that military strategists alone should decide how, when and where a large scale United Nations offensive should be launched.

The British people, Halifax explained, have progressed from "being able to take it" to a point where they are now "looking forward to the time when they can give it."

Enthusiasm for a second front, he added, was not overshadowing the recognition that Germany might launch her own blitz against the British isle.

"I don't think that anybody in Britain thinks a Nazi invasion is definitely off," Lord Halifax said.

"But everyone is well aware of the ever present danger and is consequently on his toes all the time. Defense has never been slackened."

Following a "tour of the world at war" was Secretary of State Hull in a state department conference lasting an hour and a half, the British ambassador told reporters that in his recent visit to Britain he had been particularly impressed by the friendship between the Yankee doughboy and the British Tommy and also by the tremendous share of war activity taken over by women.

London Report Says Yugeslavs Executed In Rome

(International News Service)
LONDON, Aug. 25.—Fifteen Yugoslavian soldiers, described as "communists," who fought the Italians in their homeland, have been executed in Rome. Reuters news agency reported today in a dispatch from the Italian frontier.

Seven other Yugoslavian patriots, the article said, have been sentenced to 30 years penal servitude.

The dispatch declared that 2,000 additional "rebels" were confined in a concentration camp at Ljubljana, and that the Italians had boasted that not a single man will be left alive there. Some prisoners were said to be only 14 years old.

Reuters also reported that Yugoslavian forces had stormed the town of Livno Kijue, capturing 200 German and other Axis soldiers.

Westminster On Virtually Year Round Schedule

Twenty Young Men Now In Training For Army And Navy Air Corps

(Special To The News)
NEW WILMINGTON, Aug. 25.—Westminster College is virtually on a year-round schedule, according to Dean Maxwell R. Kelso, coordinator. Although regular college students will be absent from the campus during the two-week interim of August 27 to September 11, young men of the Civil Aeronautics Authority flight training will be carrying on with their program of mathematics, physics, navigation, meteorology, military and physical training, military science, and discipline in addition to their regular flying instruction.

Twenty young men now under this program at Westminster live in Hillside dormitory, their subsistence and tuition paid by the federal government. After preliminary training is successfully completed here these students move to regular army or navy air bases.

Training for the air branches of the military services is not the only war effort preparation being given attention at Westminster. Physics, chemistry, and mathematics as related to pre-engineering, pre-medical and dental training all receive thorough emphasis at the New Wilmington institution.

Western Idaho Folks Are Tired Of Beating Sun

WEISER, Idaho, Aug. 25.—Claim-much agitation in western Idaho, due to their switching from the mountain to the Pacific belt, the people of Weiser county have declared that, on September 1, they will abandon war time and return to standard time. On that date all clocks, public and private, will be set back one hour.

It was necessary, they said, to open their schools at 10 a. m. instead of 9 a. m. since they were already 15 minutes ahead of the sun under standard time, and under war time it would be impossible to open schools at the earlier hour without forcing some pupils to start for school before daylight.

Copies of Weiser's resolution have been sent to other Idaho civic bodies in Payette, Midvale, Cambridge, Council and New Meadows, together with a message urging them to do likewise.

Testimonial Friday For Mission Head

Public Program To Honor Su- perintendent Gibson; Leaving City

A public testimonial honoring Superintendent Archie Gibson of the City Rescue Mission, who leaves September 1 to become assistant superintendent of the Erie City Rescue Mission, will be held in the mission auditorium Friday evening, August 28, under the auspices of the mission board of directors.

John Emery and Mrs. Kenneth Lutz are co-chairmen of the committee on arrangements. Speakers will include Rev. Carl Blackmore, head of the Erie mission to which Mr. Gibson is going; A. L. Johnston, president of the mission here; and Rev. W. L. McLean, pastor of First Methodist church.

NEW INSTRUCTOR AT WESTMINSTER

(Special To The News)
NEW WILMINGTON, Aug. 25.—New member of the faculty in history at Westminster College for the fall term beginning September 11, will be Nell A. McNall.

Mr. McNall, a native of Waterbury, Vermont, comes to Westminster from Cornell University where he has been an assistant in American history.

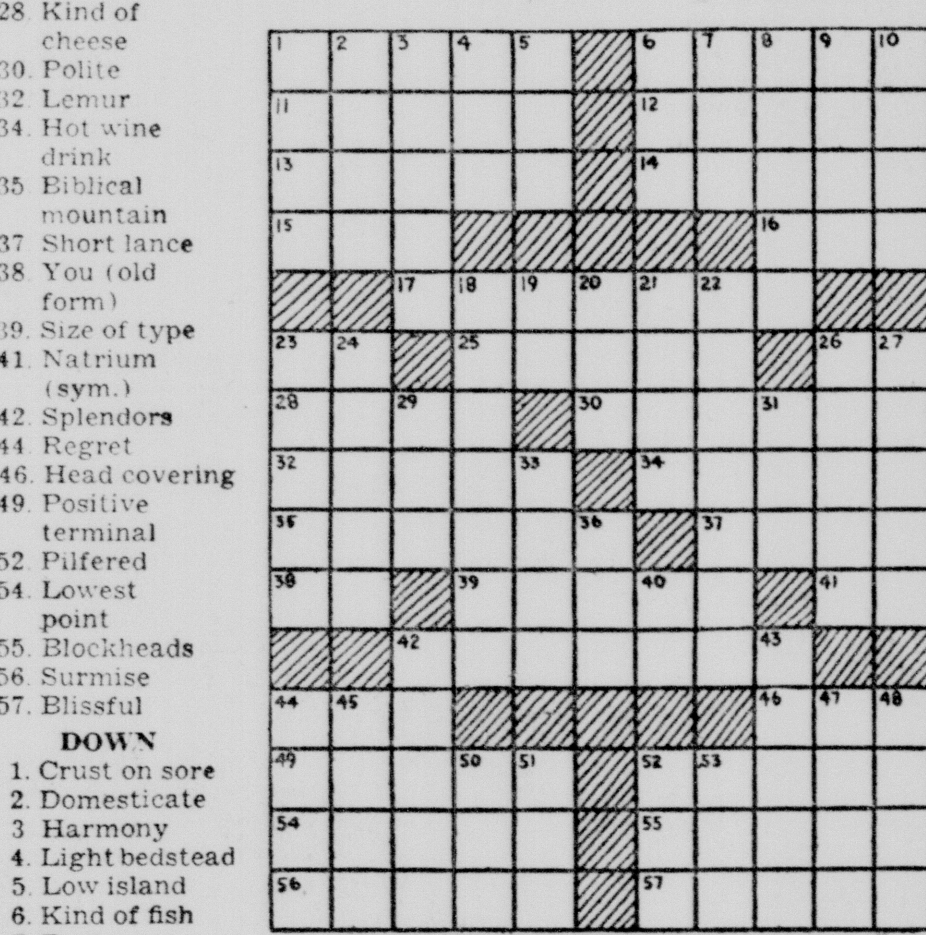

A fuel gas is being collected from sewers in Switzerland and used as a substitute for gasoline in motor trucks, says the Department of Commerce.

Speculation Over Death Of Boemer

Former Head Of German For- eign Press Department Is War Victim

International News Service
STOCKHOLM, Aug. 25.—News of the death in Poland of Lieut. Karl Boemer, former head of the German foreign press department has aroused speculation in foreign circles here.

Boemer was known in Stockholm as the "only living proof of Hitler's long-standing plans to attack Russia."

It was announced in Berlin last night that Boemer had died in a Cracow hospital from wounds received in fighting around Kharkov.

Boemer was arrested and convicted of treason last year by German authorities. He was seized by the gestapo in May 1941 after attending a reception at the Bulgarian legation.

Apparently having drunk at least one cocktail too many, Boemer boasted that by the end of June he would be sitting in Leningrad as Alfred Rosenberg's assistant, administering conquered Russia.

His prison term was cut short by good behavior and he was released on his promise to go to the eastern front as a common soldier.

He was alone against nine
Jap bombers

Alone and unaided, Lt. Comdr. Edward H. O'Hare saved his aircraft carrier from serious damage by shooting down five Japanese bombers and severely damaging a sixth in a single action far out over the Pacific.

Lt. Comdr. Edward H. O'Hare, who received the Congressional Medal of Honor as a result of his gallant action.

How O'Hare shot down five Jap planes in four minutes

As Told by Himself

The young naval air ace who, in his single-seater fighter plane far out over the Pacific, saved his aircraft carrier from serious damage, told this story of his exploit: "I was alone against nine Jap bombers. They were flying fast and straight for the carrier which they had apparently been ordered to get at all costs. I got above them and prepared for the first group to pass. Quickly I dropped, pressed the trigger and I saw two of them get hit and drop out. They burst into flames and fell.

"These bombers were coming in formations of three. On the first pass I hit planes on the right after end. Then I went over the left side and started up the line. In this way I shot down five and damaged one or two of the nine bombers. My whole action took only three or four minutes. They tell me there were sometimes three falling planes in the air at once. By nighttime we had shot down 18 of 20 Jap planes seen that day. "From what I have seen of the Japanese, I'd say that if we can meet them on anything like even terms, we can beat them.

Just give us enough trained men, enough ships and planes to approach even terms, and we'll come out on top."

Make no mistake: WINNING THIS WAR DEPENDS UPON YOU, AS WELL AS OUR FIGHTING MEN—and on the guns, tanks, planes and ships you give those privileged to do the actual fighting.

For all of us, the time has come to take the offensive—to attack. Make this your personal "Declaration of War" against the enemies who would destroy your home, your freedom:

"As we here at home contemplate our own duties, our own responsibilities, let us think and think hard of the example which is being set for us by our fighting men."

President Roosevelt, in his fireside chat April 28, 1942.

Put at least 10% of your earnings into War Bonds every pay day—starting now! War Bonds not only offer the one sure way to help equip our fighting men and guarantee America's continued freedom, but provide the safest way on earth of guaranteeing your family's financial future too.

No matter what sacrifice it may entail—be sure you make your War Bond "quota" every pay day.

Remember, that any sacrifices we make must be puny, indeed, compared to those being made by our boys on the fighting fronts.

Remember, too, that the Japs and the Nazis will not wait while you "put off" buying Bonds until your NEXT pay day. No! It's 10% invested in War Bonds now, with $4 back for every $3 when Bonds are held to maturity—or its 100% LATER—taken, not borrowed, by your Jap and Nazi masters!

Save—or slave? Bonds—or Bondage? IT ALL DEPENDS ON YOU!

Lanier, Card Ace, Trumps Brooklyn

St. Louis Triumph, 7-1, Slashes Dodgers' N. L. Lead To 6½ Games

BRAVES TO PLAY PIRATES TONIGHT

NEW YORK, Aug. 25.—The 1942 pennant race will probably be won in the American league in the next two weeks and there's a good chance the same thing will happen in the National—barring an unexpected tumble by Durocher's daring dandies, sometimes referred to as the Brooklyn Dodgers.

Regardless of what happens in their four-game series with their only competitors, the St. Louis Cardinals, it is hard to see how the Brooks can blow this year's flag. Six and a half games on top following last night's 7 to 1 loss to the Cardinals, the Dodgers figure to maintain the same 700 pace they have averaged most of the summer and can clinch the flag with any combination of 28 Dodger wins and Cardinal defeats.

Seventeen Road Games
The Dodgers have 17 games in all on the road this time, including another night contest this evening followed by twilight games Wednesday and Thursday. If they maintain their previous pace against the westerners they should have the flag in the satchel by the time they return to Ebbets field.

So far the bums have taken 13 of 18 from the Cincinnati Reds, 11 out of 15 from the Pittsburgh Pirates, 15 of 19 from the Chicago Cubs and 8 out of 17 from the St. Louis Cardinals.

The Dodgers looked anything but impressive in their "crucial" series with the Cards last night, however. The Cardinals sliced a full game off the Brooks' lead, pounding Larry French for nine hits and five runs in the early innings, while the veteran southpaw Max Lanier went the full route and stopped the Dodgers with four hits. Terry Moore ran wild for the Cards, scoring four runs and driving in two others.

In the other loop the Yankees, who open another series with the disappointing White Sox have a nine-game lead over Boston and figure to finish about that far in front. They too, have made mincemeat of the so-called western invaders to date and there's little reason to think they won't continue to do so.

So far the Yankees have won 11 of 17 from Cleveland, 12 of 18 from St. Louis, 10 of 17 from Detroit and 13 of 18 from Chicago.

Hubbell to Pitch
Other games today find the slipping New York Giants, calling on Carl Hubbell, their ace, to stop their skid back into fourth place as he faces the Reds in a night game at Cincinnati, Boston meeting Pittsburgh under the arcs at Forbes field and Philadelphia invading Chicago in the National league.

In the American the Indians and Red Sox will clash in a twin bill, while St. Louis plays the Senators a twin bill in the capital. The Detroit Tigers and Philadelphia Athletics will enjoy an off day.

SHANK SHRINKS
NEW YORK.—Welterweight Ruben Shank, the former Colorado bout farmer, who weighs 147 pounds, scaled 177 when he left a CCC camp three years ago.

VOSMIK COMEBACK
Connie Mack of the Philadelphia Athletics may try to get Joe Vosmik from the Minneapolis Millers. Vosmik is 32 and has had experience with four major league clubs.

Ruth Risked Life For Relief Show

Efforts Tremendous Strain On 47-Year-Old Bambino; Weighs 237 Pounds

By SID MERCER
NEW YORK, Aug. 25.—"Babe" Ruth possibly risked his life when he stepped out in front of 70,000 rooters, did his hitting stunt and circled the bases at the Yankee Stadium last Sunday.

The effort was a tremendous strain on the 47-year-old Bambino, who weighs 237 pounds and has been warned against over-exercise. Only a few months ago Ruth was treated for a heart condition in a Los Angeles hospital.

The big fellow was determined that the show should go on though he spent most of last Saturday in bed resting from his strenuous bat swinging at the stadium Friday. His hands were puffed and his wrists sore when he faced Walter Johnson Sunday. He had swung at almost a hundred pitches in Friday's dress rehearsal for publicity purposes.

It was a real sacrifice—a painful effort—that the Old King of Swat made for his former subjects and for the Army and Navy relief funds. He would have gone through with it even if he had collapsed at the home plate.

In the clubhouse afterward the Babe took a long time to cool out. He was exhausted, but happy. He sat in front of his locker for a long time, then dressed and saw part of the second game from a field box.

"Sugar" To Bid For 124th Victory On Thursday Night

(International News Service)
CHICAGO, Aug. 25.—Seeking his 124th straight ring victory, Ray "Sugar" Robinson, Manhattan Harlem's welterweight, was tapering off today for his 16-round bout with Tony Motisi in Comiskey park tomorrow night.

Fresh from his two-round knockout victory over Reuben Shank last week, Robinson is expected to enter the ring tomorrow a heavy favorite over the Italian brawler.

Monacan Gets Draft Orders And Then Proceeds With His Fistic Chores

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Aug. 25.—In what might be his farewell to fistic wars for the duration, Tommy Yarosz, the Monaca fancy dan, carved out a one-sided decision over Otto Blackwell, of Homestead, in the feature 10-rounder at nearby Hickey Park last night.

Yarosz weighed in at 161½ to Blackwell's 160.

Tommy, brother of the former mid-weight champion Teddy Yarosz, a few hours before he entered the ring, received orders to report to his local draft board this week for a physical examination.

Mixing a pleasing boxing exhibition with his usual fast-stepping, Yarosz danced around the slow-plodding Blackwell, jabbing him with rapier-like lefts and cross-fir rights to the delight of 1,900 fans who paid $2.51.18 to witness the contest.

Stadium Hums Like Hornets; Gridders Unite

First Workout For New Castle High Athletes Is Carded Today

MUDDY CREEK DRILLS TO BEGIN ON MONDAY

Peaceful Taggart stadium today hummed like hornets as New Castle high's 1942 gridiron aspirants united for their first meeting.

The session was reminiscent of a reunion as the athletes, browned by the summer sunshine, shouted greetings and chatted freely about vacation activities.

Coach Phil H. Bridenbaugh took command at 10 o'clock. Following a customary pep talk registration and issuance of equipment, the gridders were preparing for a workout today.

Taggart stadium maneuvers will continue during the remainder of the week.

During the caboose end of the week, Coach Bridenbaugh will select the varsity squad.

Early Monday morning, the contingent will head for Muddy Creek Falls, in Slippery Rock township, for a one-week training party.

Asked for an early season prediction or comment, Coach Bridenbaugh merely scratched his head, lifted his eyebrows and said:

"Give me a chance to see what I have on hand. This is only the first day. See me after the last game."

I do know, however, that Bobby Lee, Bobby Doster, Mike Roussos and John Zubkowsky, plus a flock of fair country junior high material, are or will be around this season.

So, form your own conclusion.

FAIR OR FOUL By LAWTON CARVER INS Sports Editor

NEW YORK, Aug. 25.—Babe Ruth is the greatest attraction in baseball and when he hit what might be called unofficially the 715th home run of his career the biggest, most enthusiastic screaming roar of this season was turned loose in Yankee stadium to be heard for miles around.

His return to the diamond in behalf of the war effort created a thrill—a nostalgic, tear-jerking thrill—beyond the expectations of those who came to see him swing a bat again.

Baseball has had many moments before now that dripped with sentiment, but none to compare with Sunday's spectacle insofar as those 69,326 screaming spectators were concerned.

Fans Begin Screams
The moment Walter Johnson was introduced over the public address system and walked slowly to the mound as though he were about to take up the burden again for the Washington Senators, they started to scream.

While the Big Train warmed up with bald Benny Bengough, a Yankee catcher during Ruth's heyday and now a Washington coach, the great horde of spectators leaned on each other with necks craning, then split the heavens again with another roar when Billy Evans came out to call balls and strikes.

Yet to this New York crowd, the Babe stood alone and it was to him that such homage as few has-beens have ever known was paid.

I personally thought that Johnson out there on the mound with his free and easy pitching motion and the magnetism of a great character was as much a show as the Babe himself, and ripples of admiration ran through the stands every time he wound-up, cocked his leg, reared back and fired the ball, but to the New York crowd, the Babe stood alone.

They thought they saw Al Evans take the throwing-for-accuracy contest among pitchers on the two clubs and they saw the Senators win a pursuit relief race, leaving the Yankees with nothing to show for it. No man Branch pole out 376 feet, 10 inches to win.

Still behind it all, the day's big winner was the army-navy relief fund which will get about $80,000 out of the games, or the biggest lump sum raised in any of the relief fund games.

Married Woman Captures Target Breaking Crown

(International News Service)
VANDALIA, O., Aug. 25.—Scoring 98 out of 100, Mrs. Lela Hall of Strasburg, Mo., five-time Women's North American champion, today was first winner of the "Champion of Champions" race for state title holders, in the 43rd Edition of the Grand Target Breaker in History, Mrs. Hall held a six-target edge over the field as she defeated 15 other state champs. Tied with 92, second place were Mrs. George Peters of Springfield, O.; Mrs. George Fairchild of Reading, Pa.; and Mrs. Van Marker of Evanston, Ill.

In the men's "Champion of Champions" tilt, four of 35 state kings ended up in a four-way tie which was to be decided today. All having perfect score of 100 out of 100 were Joe Moore of Kewanee, Ill.; H. M. Shick of Lees Summit, Mo.; Julius Petty of England, Ark., and Earl D. Hawkey of Hudson, Kan.

RATES KUHLE BETTER
Bucky Harris, manager of the Washington Senators, rates Joe Kuhle of the White Sox a better base runner than George Case of the Senators.

There was a difference of only 235 fans in the Sunday crowds of August 9 in Pittsburgh and Cincinnati. The Pirates drew 15,561 and the Reds 15,326.

SPORTS WORLD RAMBLINGS

Scrambling a few bits—

Pvt. Fred A. Maciarello, No. 1 sports enthusiast down south side way, has resumed his U. S. Marine duties in Philly following a 48-hour visit with his dad, Nick Maciarello, 745 South Mill street. Solid as a battleship, Fred's plenty good looking in uniform.

Dr. P. E. Sargeant, a grid expert at New Castle high and later a Pitt university stalwart, leaves a week from Wednesday to join the armed forces. "Zip", as he is known in the sports world, will be stationed in Texas.

Miss Margaret Fischer, who supervised those snappy stadium halves shows at Taggart stadium last season and who has charge of the cheer leaders, will be back with a bigger and snappier show this fall, she divulged during a brief interview. Patriotism will be theme.

In answer to a few inquiries, George "Sonny" Horne who was fighting in the amateur bracket here not many months ago, made an impressive bow in Madison Square Garden, last Friday. He posted a six-round decision on Milton Kessler, of Brooklyn.

SCOUT FINDS GREAT CATCHER: NAME: HARTNETT

Bill Killefer of the Phillies returned from a scouting trip over the American Association recently.

"What did you see in the way of catchers?" asked Manager Hans Lobert. "Found a great one," replied Killefer. "His name is Gabby Hartnett and he's managing Indianapolis. Yep, it's old Gabby and he's still a good enough catcher for me."

Since the Slovaks-Lawrence Indies game has been postponed, the program has been slashed to three games.

Chief interest will be centered on Marshall field where the league leading Moose club, first half champion and rapidly nearing the last half title matches shots with the strong Elder A. C.

Triumph in 11 out of 13 engagements, the Moose can take a long step in the direction of the crown by subduing the arch rivals. The Elders sport one of the two losses pinned on the leaders, "Lefty" Majors, a newboy, rimming up the upset recently.

Ellwood City's Socials, currently one of the hottest clubs in the circuit, face West Pittsburg at West Pittsburg. The Ellwoodians stand a chance of hopping into a deadlock for second place by emerging victorious.

Bessemer plays host to Croton in what should be a dink dog battle. Bessemer is hanging around near the loop's decimal while Croton has won a half dozen skirmishes in 13 tussles.

Even with the co-star of the cast out of it, Alsab will have plenty of competitors for Rounders, conqueror of Whirlaway, Valinda Orphan and other speedy colts remain among the probable starters. With a field of six, the purse in the American Derby would gross $78,650.

Kenny Washington, standout back of the UCLA team of 1940, is a Los Angeles traffic cop now.

HERE AND THERE IN SPORTS LAND

Paul Komar of McKeesport scored a technical knockout over Billy Reale of New Castle in the fourth round of a light-heavyweight bout and Harold Hazlett of Beaver Falls scored a four round decision over Russell Baxter also of New Castle in four rounds of a middleweight battle last night in Pittsburgh. Komar dropped Reale twice in the third round and the bell saved Billy. He was unable to come out for the fourth session. The Baxter-Hazlett battle was fast and close and while the verdict was given to Hazlett it could have been awarded to Baxter. One judge and the referee voted for a draw. It was Reale's first professional fight. Komar figured big in the national A. A. U. tourney and that is why the writer asserted several days ago that, in the writer's opinion Komar was too good for Billy. Billy automatically removed himself from the amateurs when he stepped into the pro fight last night.

"FASHIONS FOR MEN, YOUNG MEN AND BOYS"

Arrest Boys In Gang Last Night

Mud And Stones Hurlled At Officers As They Advance On Cunningham Avenue

Two city policemen last night met a volley of mud and stones to capture a gang of youths who used a Cunningham avenue shed as a fort. The officers dashed through the volley, apprehended the boys who were "interned" for the night. In police court today Mayor Charles B. Mayne discharged the boys, thinking, no doubt they were sufficiently punished by being forced to stay in a cold cell all night.

According to a report at police headquarters a call stated that the boys were parading in the 700 block of Cunningham avenue with torches, said torches being flaming rags on sticks.

The residents were considerably frightened and called for help. Headquarters dispatched Policemen Michael Fazzone and Herman Richards to the reported scene of trouble.

The officers approached, sentinels evidently sounded the alarm and the boys hid behind the shed.

When the two policemen got near the "fort" the command "Give it to them" rang out and instantly a volley of stones and mud flew in the direction of the officers.

which bagged six prisoners, the oldest of whom was 18 years old.

They were taken to police headquarters and lodged in a cell. Last night was quite cold and no doubt the mayor figured that the "internment" was sufficient punishment because he set them free without a fine today.

See you suffering statesmen who seems about to explode? He contains a military secret which he hasn't yet let out.

If a private has unpolished buttons, he is punished, if a big shot sacrifices an army, he is given a softer job.

Weather Man Nearly Spoils Big Concert

(International News Service)

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 25.—The weather, that much-hushed subject, did a little of its own sabotaging at a recent Robin Hood Dell concert.

Pierre Montoux was about to conduct his last concert at the Dell when old man weather threw a wet-blanket on the whole affair.

The concert was no sooner cancelled and the electrical bureau notified than it cleared. Anxious to have Montoux conduct Brahms' First Symphony, Dell officials decided that the show would "go on," come what may.

The stage was set, the audience filed in . . . but a good part of the orchestra was under the impression that the concert was still called off.

Montoux, undaunted, mounted the podium and conducted an unheard-of prelude. One trumpet player filled in with the trombone score, second fiddles realized long-standing ambitions and finally got to play first violin; a cellist took over the English horn and an English horn player played the Oboe.

And the audience could scarcely tell the difference.

Our combat planes are superbly built, but what was Goliath's great sword worth after little David's rock hit him?

Brazil's Declaration Of War Significant Aid To United States

EDITOR'S NOTE—Brazil's declaration of war against Germany and Italy was not only a great strategic but an economic and diplomatic-political triumph for the United Nations. Major Paul C. Raborg, noted military analyst and author of "mechanized might," states in the following article:

By MAJOR PAUL C. RABORG
Written Especially For International News Service

NEW YORK, Aug. 25.—Brazil's declaration of war on Germany and Italy is one of the greatest strategic, economic and diplomatic-political victories for the United States and the United Nations yet obtained in this war.

Viewing it from the political standpoint, the Axis nations have constantly proclaimed that the countries to the south of us in all of their actions since commencement of the present war have acted under duress—in other words, the United States has forced them to adopt policies which were not their own. Such statements now have been proved obviously untrue.

Nazis Forced Action
The entire world is completely aware that the Axis nations forced Brazil's declaration of war because of the unwarranted and unnecessary sinking of Brazil's neutral nation's merchant ships.

Politically, it definitely shows solidarity against the Axis nations and their ideology. Brazil is the largest individual country in South America, and her entry into the war on the side of the United Nations will have a guiding effect on that entire continent. It will exercise a great influence on Argentina and Chile, the two countries that have not terminated diplomatic relations with the Axis.

Germany, Italy and Japan have proclaimed that there is no sincerity in cooperation of the nations to the south of us with our world policies. They say that the United States has purchased South American allegiance and that this allegiance is only temporary. With the readjustment of world markets, Uncle Sam had to play banker for many South American countries, whose European and Far-Eastern trade had been stopped. This, however, was only a start to place them in the position of revamping their trade within the hemisphere.

Inter-American Trade
Since the original financial assistance it has become only too visible that the inter-American trade properly attuned to costs of production, will exceed in volume even the wildest dreams of the most optimistic. And again Brazil's declaration of war is proof positive of these facts.

Venezuela is, and has been, very friendly with the United States. Economically, it has been stated that if Venezuela's and Brazil's oil, rubber and metals were added to our own source of supply, there would result a world "corner" on the sinews of war. It is reliably stated that Henry Ford alone owns a rubber property in Brazil which, when brought into production, could equal the amount of that commodity produced in Malaya.

Excellent Results
Strategically the good results from a military viewpoint are so great they are almost unmeasurable. The key area of protection of the western hemisphere from Africa extends south from our very fine and closely spaced string of Caribbean Island bases to below the southern bend of what is called the "hump" of South America. By Brazil's entry into the war this protection is accomplished. The eastern seacoast of Brazil runs down a good three-quarters of the entire continent.

The United States already has bases established on the British island of Trinidad, and in Dutch Guiana on the mainland of South America. It is now a comparatively simple matter in cooperation with the armed forces of Brazil, to extend this military protection, we might say around the corner, and as far south as may be desired, which will be, of course, at least to Uruguay.

The easternmost tip of South America which is part of Brazil, is the closest place to the city of Dakar in Senegal, French West Africa, which is the most logical jumping off place for any attempted Axis invasion of the western hemisphere. If you will glance at a map, you will be amazed at the length of the solid line of protection of the western hemisphere.

This now extends from the northernmost point of Greenland and south, including Iceland, to the southernmost tip of Brazil, or a distance of perhaps 12,500 miles.

Rev. O. B. Poulson, executive secretary of the Men's Christian League, and a Methodist evangelist, will be the speaker at the evening session at 8 p. m.

Ladies of the church will serve the evening meal.

Windshield Stamps May Be Substituted For License Tags

(International News Service)
WASHINGTON, Aug. 25.—Tax stamps pasted on windshields will substitute for new license plates in many states for the duration, the American Petroleum announced today. The War Production Board has limited metal plates to four square inches.

Small metal tags snapped over the 1942 plates will be used in many states, including New Jersey, New York, Pennsylvania and West Virginia. Ohio and several other states are now considering using windshield stamps.

Daily Dozen

(From the Medical Society of the State of Pennsylvania)

The Army rejected many men due to physical defects. The Army deferred 430,000 men for low educational status. Does that mean American youth is sickly and illiterate? It does not.

The Army sets high standards for both health and education.

Use of complicated mechanized equipment make this necessary.

Illiteracy means inability to read and write.

Census reports include those with less than 5 years of schooling.

There are 10 million persons over 25 with less than 5 years.

Many famous, successful men had very little formal schooling.

Three per cent of white persons have had no schooling.

Illiteracy in this county is rapidly being wiped out.

A hick town is a place where youngsters stand before a soda fountain mirror and scatter dandruff with a pocket comb.

So many must die and so many must grieve before we get mad and tough enough to make big slackers do their duty.
